The Way is a title given by Jesus Christ to Himself (John 14.6) and is the earliest name His followers gave to their beliefs and practices (Acts 24.14).

The Chi-Rho (above) within a circle signifying eternity is a very early monogram for Christ, the superimposed Greek letters X and P forming the first letters of His name. They form a cross, the upright P standing for His crucified body, and in our version (taken from a coin of an early Christian Roman Emperor) the arms of the X are nails, whose points meet at the centre.

The Orthodox Church is evangelical, but not Protestant.
It is orthodox, but not Jewish.
It is catholic, but not Roman.
It isn't non-denominational - it is pre-denominational.
It has believed, taught, preserved, defended and died for the Faith of the Apostles since the Day of Pentecost 2,000 years ago.
